

2015 SWSO Leadership Program

Have you ever thought of yourself as an effective leader? Do you possess the ability to step into any circumstance requiring leadership skills and accomplish the tasks at hand? For an orthodontist, leadership can mean different things- moving into leadership positions within organized orthodontics at a local, state, regional, or even national level to move your chosen profession in a better direction, or understanding the skills necessary as a professor to effectively teach your residents in an academic setting, or even being a better leader in your private practice. Effective leadership is a skill that very few of us are born with and it is for that reason that the Southwestern Society of Orthodontists conducts a biannual Leadership Program.

The program consists of two meetings held in conjunction with the SWSO Ad Interim board meeting on March 27 and the SWSO Annual Session on November 5. Proven leadership skills and techniques will be identified and developed in an exciting, collaborative setting with other orthodontists in our region.

Hotel expense and food will be taken care of by the SWSO. Attendees will be responsible for travel expenses and incidentals. Limited spots available.
